

CONVENTION UNDER WAY

Irvine C. Lenroot Is Made Temporary Chairman, and Addresses Delegates.

JEFFRIS ASKS FOR JUSTICE

When Minority Report Is Called For--Bancroft of Richland, Makes a Very Bitter Speech.

(Special to The Gazette.)
Convention hall, Madison, May 18, 12:30 p. m.—At eleven this morning the anti-third-term delegates met in the opera house. M. G. Jeffris called the meeting to order and after reading the list of the county chairmen chosen to act in connection with the steering committee, announced the result of the deliberations of the state central committee. The following stalwart delegates had been thrown out: Dodge, second district, 10; Ashland, 12; Eau Claire, first district, 9; Oconto, 11; St. Croix, 6½; Grant, 11; and second ward of Milwaukee. Total of 64½.

Exhorts to Stand Firm
He exhorted the delegates to stand firm and follow the advice of the steering committee. A mention of "Quarles" name resulted in a speech from Chairman Jeffris, in which he said that there was no criticism of Senators Spooner or Quarles. "They are republicans and will stand by what is right and just." The scene in the convention hall is one of wild excitement. Hundreds of deputy sheriffs guard every door.

Lumberjacks From North
Big men picked for brawn and lumberjacks from Marinette and the other cities in the northern woods are on hand to keep the crowd in check. The platform is filled with ladies and the university band played continuously during the preliminary delay. As the delegations enter the hall they are greeted with great volleys of cheers. Hundreds of badges bearing the legend, "20,000 Against a Third Term" are in evidence.

Called to Order
Gen. G. E. Bryant called the convention to order on a stroke. After a short delay Rev. Updike, Congregational minister, offered a prayer. The delegates were now nearly all seated. Each senatorial district is sitting together. M. G. Jeffris objected to the reading of the roll until after temporary organization. Objection was overruled by Chairman Bryant and Mr. Jeffris asked that it be recorded. The list was then read.

Fights at Entrance
Grant and Milwaukee county delegates fought at the entrance, which was guarded by game wardens. Bodies of Milwaukee were thrown down stairs upon refusing to put badge on the outside of his coat. Captain Bendaly of Milwaukee was also slugged by a warden. An old white-haired man slugged the game-wardens and gained admission.

Jamesville Men There
Francis Grant is reporting the convention. Jeffris, Rogers, and Phillips conferred during the reading of the delegates' names with the leading Cook delegates. There is a rumor in the air that a deal is being fixed to gain control of the temporary organization.

Lenroot Is Chairman
Madison, 1:25 p. m.—Irvine C. Lenroot was announced as the temporary chairman by Gen. Bryant and C. O. Marsh as secretary. Lenroot made a speech. The La Follette men grouped themselves to prevent any demonstration. Lenroot referred to the primary election law and paid a tribute to McKinley. His mention of Roosevelt's name provoked applause. He placed Roosevelt over McKinley in the estimation of history, and said

"BUCK" HINRICHSSEN IS VICTIM OF APOPLEXY
Noted Democratic Politician of Illinois Lies at His Home in a Critical Condition.

Jacksonville, Ill., May 18.—W. H. Hinrichsen, known throughout Illinois as "Buck" Hinrichsen, suffered a stroke of apoplexy Tuesday and now lies unconscious at his home in Alexandria, twelve miles east of this city. His condition is critical and fears for his recovery are entertained.

For twenty years "Buck" Hinrichsen has been a familiar figure in Illinois politics. He was secretary of state under Gov. Altgeld from 1893 to 1897 and at the expiration of his term was elected to congress by the Democrats of this district. He was one of the original free silver men and has for years been a close friend of W. J. Bryan.

Mr. Hinrichsen is 55 years old and has lived all his life in Morgan county. For several years he was editor of the Jacksonville Courier. During the past few years he has written much for papers in Chicago and other cities.

Contrasts in Size.
Lord Kelvin calculated that if a drop of water were magnified to the size of the earth its constituent atoms would be somewhere between the size of a small shot and base balls.

that he was the greatest leader and statesman since Lincoln. He spoke of the Panama canal and the tariff and condemned existing railway rates. Roosevelt was quoted for the stand taken by the administration in this matter.

Feeble Applause for La Follette
The mention of La Follette's name brought forth but a feeble response. Several hundred delegates, assisted by 500 university students, admitted for the purpose, attempted to offer an ovation but the cheering soon died down. The La Follette delegates have been grouped about the speaker's platform to lead in the cheering and to guard against a possible seizure of the chair of the presiding officer, should the stalwarts attempt it.

Minority Report in
Madison, May 18, 1:45 p. m.—The minority report was given immediately after Lenroot's speech. It gave seats to all the delegates thrown out by the report of the state central committee. M. B. Rosenberry of Wausau read the report and moved the minority report be accepted. His motion was ruled out of order and J. J. McGillicuddy presented a resolution providing for the unit rule in voting. This was objected to by M. G. Jeffris who was overruled by the chair. Despite the overwhelming vote of the opposition the motion was announced passed by the chairman. L. H. Bancroft of Richland then moved that the majority report be accepted. Rosenberry and Jeffris sprang to their feet to present an amendment. The chair ruled Rosenberry out of order. The chair called on Hall to decide the question and he gave a decision favoring Rosenberry. The latter then rose to explain the stand of the minority report, enthusiastically bursting forth at all times. The chair was unable to keep order. Rosenberry addressed the delegates directly.

Bancroft's Bitter Speech
Madison, 2:23 p. m.—L. H. Bancroft of Richland responded, his speech being filled with slings at the stalwarts. M. G. Jeffris then took the floor and made an impressive appeal to the La Follette voters for honesty and fairness. He spoke for the amendment and was repeatedly cheered. State Senator Mills of Madison took the floor in behalf of the majority report. He was followed by E. R. Hicks of Oshkosh who appealed to the convention to remember what the results of its action would be. Meantime the report of the minority which was in the stenographer's hands was called for and the convention was in an uproar until it was returned. Mr. Hicks was very eloquent. He predicted the defeat of the republican party if factionalism is allowed to run.

To Try Their Strength
Madison, 2:45 p. m.—The question of the appeal from the decision of the chair will show the actual strength of the two factions. Jeffris is making a passionate appeal. Hicks and Jeffris exchange compliments. Jeffris is hissed by the La Follette men and cheered by the stalwarts.

Vote On Appeal
Madison, 3 p. m.—The vote taken on the question showed: Ayes, 574 5/8; noes, 485 1/8. This shows the exact La Follette strength.

SHOOT A SERENADING PARTY
Farm Hand Wounds Sixteen Members of a Charivari.

Romeo, Mich., May 18.—Sixteen members of a charivari party, organized to "serenade" Robert Robertson, a farmer living six miles from here, who was recently married, were wounded when Frank McAdams, Robertson's hired man, fired six shots from a shotgun at the serenaders. A farm hand whose name is unknown was seriously wounded and may die, and two young women named Bolland, who live near the Robertson farm, were among the wounded.

Joke on Newspaper Men.
St. Joseph, Mo., May 18.—The Northwest Missouri Press association, en route to St. Louis, was held up by W. E. Williams, a St. Joseph newspaper man, who was masked. At St. Louis Mr. Williams returned the stolen belongings.

New York, May 18.—Hermann Nodelschmidt, a prominent German, pleaded guilty to embezzling $13,000 from his employer. He used the money in entertaining Prince Henry when the latter visited New York.

SIGNS OF THE TIMES

HARMONY IN THE OHIO CONVENTION

Organization Leaders Control and Contests Fail to Materialize.

Columbus, O., May 18.—The Ohio Republican convention completed its preliminary organization Tuesday, and after naming the various committees and listening to several speeches, adjourned until Wednesday.

What is known as "the organization" headed by Herlick, Dick and Cox, carried almost all of the twenty-one districts and controlled the convention by such a decisive majority that no contests or opposition to anything was apparent.

Because Senator Fairbanks of Indiana and Senator Ellikin of West Virginia are both natives of this state, it was thought that the Ohio delegation at the Chicago convention would be divided between them, but most of the expressions here have been for Congressman Hitt of Illinois. Senator Foraker and Congressman Grosvenor are among those who declared for Hitt.

Senator Foraker Speaks.
After some further announcement there were continuous calls for Senator Foraker.

He congratulated the delegates on the auspicious outlook for the Republicans, he reviewed the history of the party, and eulogized Ohio Republicans that have contributed to history, including Grant, Hayes, Garfield and McKinley.

He laid stress on the name of Hanna in connection with that of presidents from Lincoln to Roosevelt. He said the Ohio Republicans were now foremost in choosing another great president—Roosevelt.

"The Democrats," he said, "have neither men nor measures. Some object to Parker because he has no opinions and others to Bryan because he has too many opinions. Some object to Cleveland because he is too respectable and others to Hearst because he is not respectable enough for them. We have no such troubles. All the world knows Theodore Roosevelt."

Dick Eulogizes Roosevelt.
There were then loud and continuous calls for Senator Dick, who, in reviewing the Republican presidents from Lincoln to Roosevelt, eulogized the latter and said the Chicago convention would be the greatest ratification meeting ever known in this country. He said that public sentiment had also outlined the Republican national platform that would be ratified in Chicago, closing with a quotation from Hanna: "Let well enough alone and we will keep on doing well."

WALL CARRIES WISCONSIN VOTE

Following is the unanimous report of the committee on resolutions as adopted:

"The last national platform is the code of national democracy and should be recognized as such until a new platform is adopted, but we recommend the following as suggestions to the St. Louis convention, impressing the position of Wisconsin Democrats upon those issues which are now regarded as of paramount importance:

"1. We favor the stringent enforcement of the laws against unlawful and monopolistic combinations of capital to the end that the so-called trust organizations may be exterminated.

"2. We favor a tariff for revenue only.

"3. We favor the repeal of all tariff taxes on all trust-made articles.

"4. We favor free and uninterrupted commerce between all of the people of the United States.

"5. We favor deposits of surplus public moneys in safe bank depositories upon adequate security and at current rates of interest.

"6. We favor the enactment of laws prohibiting all railway corporations from engaging in or carrying on any business except that of the common carrier.

"7. We favor the speedy completion of the Panama canal, and regret that our government should have permitted this great project to be stained with evidence of dishonorable intrigue against the integrity of a friendly republic.

"8. We favor an income tax law and an amendment in the constitution, if necessary, to accomplish it.

"9. We favor the election of United States Senators by direct vote of the people."

JESSE LEWISOHN IS INDICTED
Charge Is Criminal Contempt of Court for Refusing Testimony.

New York, May 18.—Jesse Lewisoohn, a millionaire, who refused to reply to questioning in the court of special sessions and before the grand jury regarding an alleged gambling house, was indicted by the grand jury for criminal contempt of court. Lewisoohn was immediately arraigned, pleaded not guilty and furnished bond in the sum of $1,000. It is contended by Lewisoohn that the new law relating to gambling, introduced and passed by the recent state legislature through the efforts of District Attorney Jerome, is unconstitutional.

A DEADLOCK YET IN SPRINGFIELD

No Change Apparent in Situation This Morning—Sherman's Flop Is Permanent.

(Special by Scripps-Melroe.)

Springfield, Ill., May 18.—An impression prevails this morning that the deadlock will be broken today. Notwithstanding this feeling, the leaders declare there is no change in the situation and no combination of votes and interests in prospect that insures anyone a majority. It is generally admitted that Sherman's flop to Deen is permanent. A dark horse is talked of. It appears to be a fight to a finish among the seven candidates.

1:37 p. m.—The thirty-ninth ballot was: Yates, 483; Deen, 442; Lowden, 396; Hamlin, 112; Sherman, 25; Warner, 36; Pierce, 30.
1:52 p. m.—Fortieth ballot: Yates, 482; Lowden, 396; Deen, 440; Hamlin, 111; Warner, 40; Sherman, 2; Pierce, 30. Forty-first ballot: Yates, 484; Lowden, 395; Deen, 436; Hamlin, 111; Warner, 40; Sherman, 4; Pierce, 31. At 12:40 the convention took a recess until 3 p. m.

NEIGHBORS TESTIFY IN GILLESPIE CASE

New Testimony Introduced in Rising Sun Murder Case This Morning.

(Special by Scripps-Melroe.)

Rising Sun, May 18.—At the Gillespie murder trial this morning Mrs. Jane Boyle, Neighbors Seward and Barbour testified just before the murder they sat down to the supper table when Belle Seward entered and said she wanted to look over the papers. She sat on the lounge in the dining room and a shot was fired two minutes later. When the shot was heard Mrs. Seward threw up her hands and said, "I am afraid some one is killed or hurt." She then sank back on the lounge saying, "Oh, where is Jim, where is Jim?" He was in the rear yard when I came in here. We told her not to get excited as it was nothing but a bird shooting.

SCHAEFFER CASE OPENED FOR TRIAL

Circumstantial Evidence Will Be Relied Upon by the Prosecution To Convict McDonald.

(Special by Scripps-Melroe.)

Bellevue, Ind., May 18.—It is evident from Prosecutor Miller's opening statement to the jury that the state hopes to convict McDonald, alleged murderer of Sarah Schaeffer, on purely circumstantial evidence. During Miller's scathing denunciation of McDonald's lips twitched convulsively. Dr. Nicholson at whose home Miss Schaeffer formerly roomed, testified that the girl often entertained gentlemen. Captain J. Cook, in whose shed the dead body was found, described the position and condition of the body when discovered. The evidence was not of a nature to incriminate anyone.

CAPITAL CITY; NOON TODAY

Indications Point to Two Conventions in the Armory at One Time.

THOUSANDS FIGHT AT DOORS

And Wire Netting Is Torn Down by Frenzied Crowd---To Seat Delegates by Force if Found Necessary.

(Special to The Gazette.)

Madison, Wis., May 18.—(Non Dispatch.)—Present indications are that two conventions will be held in Armory hall, instead of one. Consultations of the leaders of the parties are in progress this morning and it is expected that they will approve of the idea of seating the Ashland delegation, and other delegates. If this is done there will be a lively time at the convention. La Follette men are having secret sessions in the capitol building.

Candidates Hold Levees
In the capitol building passes of large strong men are being rapidly distributed to prevent any rush of the doors. Baensch and Cook are holding receptions in their rooms in the Park hotel, and delegates are crowding to meet them. It is expected that many La Follette votes will be influenced by the strong pressure being brought to bear for fair play. One plan to hold a separate convention is to take the stalwart candidate upon the national ticket in the republican columns. Another dodge to be tried is the passing of badges out to delegations who have been refused and thus get them by the door-keeper and onto the floor of the convention. This is also the plan of the La Follette men to help swell their majority.

Fight for Admission
At eleven o'clock the entire stalwart delegation met at the opera house and proceeded en masse to the gymnasium. Here the scene baffles description. Thousands of people fought for admission and the wire netting across the doors was quickly torn down. Bulky La Follette door-tenders and Madison police managed to keep order for a while, but it is thought that they will be swept aside before the convention is called. Bands are playing and badges bearing the legends "Anti-Third Term" and "Hike" are seen on every side.

WILL PROTECT PORT ARTHUR

Russians Are Concentrating All Their Strength at Besieged Citadel.

(Special by Scripps-Melroe.)

St. Petersburg, May 18.—It is the plan of the Russians to abandon all of the southern end of Manchuria, with the exception of Port Arthur. The removal of the guns from the fortifications erected at Kien-Chau and the destruction of Port Dalny were primarily for the purpose of concentrating the entire Russian force at Port Arthur.

If the men and guns were scattered, the effect would have been to distribute the means of defense of the fortress over a number of points strategically weak. The destruction of Dalny was the result of no sudden determination, but was due to the probability that a force attempting to hold this place could be separated from Port Arthur and captured, thus inflicting further loss of prestige to the Russians, which could not be permitted at this time.

Japanese in Control.
To defend the whole of the southern end of the Liao Tung peninsula it would have been necessary to have an army equal to that which the Japanese could have landed.

Advices received by the general staff show that the Japanese are practically masters of all of the southern end of Liao Tung peninsula, save Port Arthur and the territory commanded by its guns. This result, so promptly brought about, is due to the failure of the Russians to make opposition of any consequence to the Japanese advance.

Advance on Kuropatkin.
Chefoo, May 18.—The main body of the Japanese army is advancing on Hui-Cheng (about ten miles southeast of New Chwang), and Kai-Ping (Kai-Chou, about thirty-five miles south of New Chwang), and a smaller force is marching in the direction of Liao-Yank. Important developments are probable.

Japanese Land Troops.
New Chwang, May 18.—For twelve hours Monday heavy and continuous firing was heard in the direction of Kai-Chou. The Russian scouts, who had been sent out to investigate, returned in the afternoon and reported that the Japanese had landed troops at Kai-Chou, under the cover of guns from four warships. There is tremendous excitement among the Chinese here, who witnessed, with visible joy, the hurried departure of many Russian residents. The guns of the Russian gunboat Sivouch, with their mountings, have been taken to Tashihchou. The advance of the Japanese is not expected at present, as the rain has converted the country into a veritable quagmire.

Kuroki Nears Mukden.
Mukden, May 18.—The Japanese fighting line is steadily nearing Mukden, where Viceroy Alexieff's headquarters still remain. It is now known that the Japanese are almost within striking distance of the Russians, and that the forces protecting Liao Yang are stretching eastward from the railroad along the Mao-Tien mountain range. The Japanese are advancing in three columns and are now north of Shu-Yen. Two columns are reported to be working farther to the northward with the object of turning the Russian position and advancing upon Mukden.

Owens to Arson.
Charlton, Ia., May 18.—Henry Schlotz and Harley Raynold have been arrested charged with starting the fire which last Wednesday burned also business houses in this city, entailing a loss of $40,000. Schlotz has confessed.

Get Booty of $7,500.
Helena, Mont., May 18.—The safe in the office of the Billings Brewing Company was dynamited and papers, money and diamonds valued at $7,500 were taken. Fred Steppens, the watchman, was shot.

RINGING SPEECH MADE BY M. G. JEFFRIS LAST NIGHT

Chairman of Stalwart Mass Meeting Charged the Victors To Insist Upon Their Rights.

"I love the history of the republican party. I am proud of the achievements of that grand old party. But I say, men, I would rather see the republican party torn to shreds than see our rights trampled into the mire by an unprincipled executive and a usurper."

This was the spirited and earnest declaration of M. G. Jeffris of Jamesville, in the principal address last night before the stalwart mass meeting in the Fuller opera house at Madison. It was the climax of a great speech and it was the climax of a great and an historic meeting. It announced the determination of a legally elected majority to insist upon their rights and refuse to be crushed into subject submission by the machine of the cops of which are state fad game wardens, oil inspectors, and other salary-grubbing sinecures.

Mr. Jeffris was nominated by T. W. Spence of Milwaukee as chairman of the meeting and was elected with a great cheer. He said that the meeting was called to make the stalwart majority know that it was powerful and that it was not obliged to gather the crumbs that fell from the administration table. He said that the La Follette state central committee was engaged in a process of throwing out legally elected delegates and distributing their seats to defeated millions of the administration.

The meeting determined that the direction of the movements of the stalwarts should be left to a steering committee of one member from each county and this committee, in turn, to be directed by a head committee of seven.

'OLD FOGY' WILL NOT BE DOWNED

CONTINUES TO DISCUSS OPEN LIBRARY AT NOON HOUR

AND TALKS WITH WORKMEN

Also Has More to Say About the Advantages of Having Police Officials at City Hall at All Hours.

To The Editor:

Some days ago I wrote regarding the idea of opening the city library open during the noon hour for the accommodation of citizens and visitors in general. At the present time I would like to again present this idea to the readers of the Gazette. On Monday noon I took particular attention of the persons who lingered in the court house park during the noon hour and took the pains to ask fifteen men who sat there what they thought about the library question. The whole conversation could be summed up in what one workman said: "I would like to be able to get into the library at noon after I eat my lunch and sit for a few minutes and look at the late publications. When I am through my work at night I must go home and in the evening I am a long walk for a tired man to come back down town. At noon I have a half hour and would enjoy the use of the library."

Would Do No Hurt

In my mind this workman's opinion would be a fair example of what a benefit it would be to the people of the city if they could go into the library during their noon hour. As I understand it the library is run for the accommodation of the citizens of the city. That is the theory but is it true in practice? The idea Mr. Carnegie has always expressed in his generous donations to cities is that the masses might be benefited. It is a question in my mind if under the present rulings as to hours whether they are or not. Of course this is a question for the library board to settle but I am sure the general public would approve of longer hours for the building being open.

Open Shelving

The other day I wandered into the library to see if the reading rooms were much patronized. It was Saturday night and the desk was crowded with ladies and young girls seeking for books for Sunday reading. What pleased me most was the sight of the prospective readers going among the volumes themselves and picking out their own reading matter. They were enabled to get a clear idea of what they wanted and an opportunity to examine their book before taking it home and then being disappointed. It was so different from the old method of leaving everything to the taste of the librarian that it was pleasing. I found the reading room well filled. Several quiet looking men sat by the paper file and were reading the news of the day. Young boys and young men who showed the ear marks of being hard working people sat at the tables and seemed to enjoy the magazines they were reading. These were the masses Carnegie hoped to reach and I could not but think that many of these same men and boys would like to have a chance at the noon hour to do just what they were doing now.

That Police Question

That police question is still held in abeyance. Sop to the curious was thrown out by the common council in their order on Monday night in the order that Chief Hogan appoint another policeman. This is a move in the right direction but not enough. However Chief Hogan is a good organizer and it might be possible for him to arrange his work so that he or one of his four policemen would be in the city hall all the time. This would establish the headquarters. I have spoken of several times and do much to make the citizens feel more secure. However that is also left for future decisions and the matters run along as they have in the past. Some day something important will happen on the east side of the river, like another Bostwick silk robbery and then the importance of a careful police protection of this important section of the city will be realized.

Much Lawlessness

Take for example the past record. Herman Zimmerman killed in a fight in the Court House park. Numerous fights in the vicinity of south Main street. Numerous street fights, frequent fights late at night, horses left standing all night within a block of the Myers house on cold winter nights, robberies of the Bostwick store, ten thousand dollars in value taken and several other petty crimes. If the Chief appoints another policeman he should be stationed on this side of the river and thus insure a good protection.

CROP PASSED OUT OF FIRST HANDS

Fully Two-Thirds of the New Tobacco Has Been Delivered to the Buyers.

It is believed that two-thirds of the crop has passed out of first hands, and at the present rate of buying the balance should soon be absorbed. The situation, however, is most discouraging to the growers; prices are lower than for some years past, running from 4 1/2 cents to five cents for good leaf, and as farmers are eager to dispose of their holdings, any advance is not to be expected. With the arrival of warmer weather the plant beds are doing better, and the young plants on many of the early sown beds have begun to show.

New England. The tobacco packing season is nearing its close, and a retrospective survey is far from encouraging to the warehousemen, few of whom have done the average amount of business. Owing to the exceptional lateness of the season many buyers have preferred to do their assorting in the vicinity of the large cities, arguing that thus they can secure workmen who are not farmers and who will be willing to work during part of the regular agricultural season. Comparatively few purchases have been made during the past week. Some transactions were reported on a basis from 3 cents to 1 1/2 cents per pound. A fair quantity of tobacco is being held for market changes.

New York. The buying season is coming to an end with no improvement in conditions. A few small sales were reported last week at 4 cents a pound, a figure which hardly reimburses the farmer for his outlay. Growers are now giving attention to the plant beds, and all indications point to a marked decrease in tobacco acreage. That this will result in an improvement in the quality of the crop is generally believed. For many years growers have been trying to produce too large a quantity and the fertilizer has been spread too thickly. This year more care will surely be taken to bear on the selection of selection of seed and plants, and the ground will be better fertilized.

Ohio. A considerable quantity of Zimmer and seed leaf has been delivered to local packers recently at prices ranging from 6 cents and 2 cents to 7 cents through for seed leaf, and from 7 cents to 9 cents for Zimmer. The broad leaf variety has been in special demand. Several packers are keeping out of the market until after the sweat in the belief that operations will then be less hazardous.

FLORENCE CAMP TO HAVE LARGE CROWD

Plans Are Rapidly Being Completed for the Annual Meet at Madison.

June 1, the date of the big Modern Woodmen picnic, Madison will be called upon to entertain a mighty host, between 50,000 and 75,000 strangers being expected. The influx of the visitors will begin early in the morning, and by noon the streets will be black with people. All railroads have granted excursion rates. A splendid program has been arranged that composes various amusements, from a boat race by the university crews to a free vaudeville in the Capitol park. Governor La Follette will give an address on behalf of the state, and Mayor Curtis on behalf of the city. In the Capitol park, Madison entertained the M. W. A. picnic some years ago in a manner that proved satisfactory to all who were here. The program is arranged as follows:

PROGRAM
11:30 a. m.—Grand parade of camps, bands and teams.
1:30—Competitive drill of teams for prizes, aggregating $250.
2:30 p. m.—Addresses in Capitol park by Mayor Curtis, Governor La Follette, Head Consul Talbot and Clerk Hawes on behalf of the camps.
3:30 p. m.—Free vaudeville in Capitol park.
4:30 p. m.—Eight-on-shelf race by university clubs on Lake Monona.
It is expected that the Modern Woodmen, Florence camp No. 368, of this city will send about seven hundred to their annual picnic this year.

STORY OF DREAM THAT CAME TRUE

Miss Vera Nolan, Aged Twelve, Writes Interesting Tale in the Gazette Contest.

MR. MARTIN'S FORTUNE. In a small town about five miles from Milwaukee, there dwelt in a cottage, a man, his wife, and six children, the oldest being twelve years old.

The father was a poor tinker named Martin. He and his wife went out to work every day, leaving the oldest girl Ruth, to take care of the children. Many nights when the mother and father sat down to think over the day's labor, they were very disconsolate, but they were confident they would be shown through their troubles.

Although they were poor, they were neat and clean. At one time Mr. Martin had some money stolen from him and he had dreamed that it was hidden near his house, but Mrs. Martin said "Dreams never come true unless you dreamed it with a piece of wedding cake under your pillow."

It was time to make a garden, and a kind farmer told him that if he would come up to his house he would let him take his plow. He set to work and on the second day Joy came to the Martin home, for Mr. Martin came rushing into the house very pale and excited. Ruth asked: "What is the matter?" but before he could answer, Mrs. Martin came home.

Mr. Martin, still excited, held up the wallet and said: "The money is found. The money is found." It is all there," said Ruth. "We will see," said her mother. "10,000 had been stolen, but as they counted, the sum found in the wallet amounted to $20,000. In the bottom of the wallet was a letter which read as follows:

"I feel very sorry that I stole the money which you so honestly earned, and to make up to you for my taking it, I will add my money, $10,000. As I am about to be called to the eternal resting place, I will bury this and the money. I would come to you but became sick and you moved away. Being your best friend, you would never think it of me. Forgive me and use the money all as your own."

As the letter was finished, Mr. Martin said: "I would never think it of Carl. As Carl was my best friend."

As Carl Norris had no relatives as far as Mr. Martin could find out, the Martin's felt that they could use the money for their own comfort and for the education of their children.

DELOIT Y. M. C. A. BASEBALL TEAM IS ON THE DIAMOND

And Will Play the Janesville Organization on Saturday Next.

At a business meeting of the Deloit Y. M. C. A., it was decided to put a baseball team in the field. The team at the Fairbanks-Morse plant known as the Deloit team, will be practically absorbed in the new team put out by the "Y" boys, and after being reorganized will be in a position to put up some fine ball during the summer months. The first game under the new management will be one with a similar organization from Janesville next Saturday afternoon.

TWENTY-FOUR TEAMS WORK ON ONE FARM

Neighbors Help George Cleland Who is in the Hospital Out of a Difficulty.

George Cleland who resides on a farm south of Janesville, is confined in the hospital with illness and in order that the necessary spring work on his premises might not be neglected his neighbors held a "bee" yesterday. Twenty-four teams were at work on the same field yesterday and the spectacle was a rare one from more than one point of view. It spoke eloquently of the brotherly feeling that prevails in this section of the country.

Sale Rapidly Increasing

Milo-na, the Dyspepsia Remedy, Has Cured a Hundred Cases of King's Pharmacy and The Peoples' Drug Company Customers.

One of the greatest necessities in the sale of a medicine has been achieved by Milo-na, the dyspepsia remedy and its sale is increasing so rapidly that King's Pharmacy and The Peoples' Drug Company, the popular druggists, have had work to keep a stock on hand.

It is very popular with well known bankers, ministers, lawyers, and others whose business or profession keeps them closely confined, while those who have brought on indigestion through irregular eating, worry or other causes, have found a cure in this reliable remedy.

Milo-na is in the form of small tablets and is sold in a metal box especially designed for convenience in carrying the medicine in the pocket or purse. It is pleasant to take; costs but 50c, gives quick relief and makes lasting cures.

This remedy has been so uniformly successful and made so many remarkable cures that King's Pharmacy and The Peoples' Drug Company will in future sell Milo-na under a positive guarantee to refund the money if it should not cure. No other dyspepsia medicine ever had a large enough percentage of cure so that it could be sold in this manner. A guarantee like this speaks volumes for the merit of the remedy.

There is no time like the present to do a thing that ought to be done. If any one has dyspepsia, today is the best time to begin curing it.

IN THE CHERRY BLOSSOM LAND

MRS. HIBBARD WRITES OF JOURNEY TO THE MOUNTAINS.

SOUND BASIS OF MORALITY

Is Sadly Needed, as Buddhism Creates No Public Sentiment for What is Good and Pure.

On Japanese railways, tourists usually travel first class, resident foreigners and the more aristocratic Japanese second class, and the great mass of the people third class. I don't know that I am particularly democratic in my tastes but I have developed a liking for riding third class. Unlike a good many facts it is inexpensive and I feel free to indulge in it. To be sure the seats are no more than board benches covered with matting and extending across the car from side to side; but then you are sure of plenty of company and it is there that you see real life of the people.

I am just back from a business trip to Karuzawa, the mountain resort, where a large proportion of the foreigners in Japan spend their summer holiday. My teacher accompanied me in order that the twelve hours necessary for the two hundred mile journey might be profitably employed. The space before the gates at the station was packed with the anxious crowd, bundle laden, and dotted with the bright garments of the babies. There is never a semblance of a line in a Japanese crowd so far as my experience goes and when the gates were opened it taxed the patience even of the Japanese policemen who, mounted on the rail of the passage leading to the gate, did his best to bring something like order out of that chaos. I was really only a moment here, but we were through and we found a seat in the foremost coach of the train. After the first few stations were left behind the crowd diminished and we found ourselves running through a fertile plain the lower levels devoted to rice culture and the higher portions already green with barley and wheat. Here and there a clump of trees broke the otherwise monotony of the landscape and a second look usually revealed a temple or shrine hidden away under the massive, cryptic, or century old pines. As we left Tokyo the streets were strewn with the snow of fallen cherry blossoms but when toward night the mountains rose on the horizon we began to notice cherry trees in the height of their splendor. It was raining, a fine mistlike rain that penetrated everything and leaves the roads in a condition that beggars description; but as we passed one of the numerous shrines, we saw the park crowded with people, and as the train jogged on across the rice fields we saw in very direction strings of people winding their way along the narrow paths to the little mountain railways which with many snortings and puffings manages to carry you twenty-five miles and climb twenty-five hundred feet in a few hours. A couple of small oil lamps served to fill the car with mysterious shadows, and here and there to throw into strong relief a profile or perhaps a face, deepening the shadows about the mouth and below the high cheek bones. Many were asleep and the stiff postures that were assumed in trying to find comfort on the unaccustomed seats gave a touch of something almost weird to the loose draped figures. A little boy with fringe wondering eyes sat opposite me for a while but soon overcame his nervousness and perhaps a little afraid of the "Japs" (landlubberish) he hid his head behind his mother and under the baby strapped on her back and went fast asleep. Just behind us a young woman student from one of the schools in Tokyo chatted politely with her mother for a while but soon the heavy air of the car proved too much for her too and she lapsed into silence. Finally we pulled out of the last twenty-six tunnels onto the high plain of Karuzawa and were started into waterfalls by the announcement of the guard that it was snowing. We stumbled out and trudged away to the village a mile from the station where fortunately we found the proprietor of the Japanese hotel still awake though it was certainly not from any hope of a belated guest. While we made our bargain with the host, a much stirred up the ashes of the open fire and throwing on some brush, a good fire was soon blazing. We were led along a roofed but otherwise open passage way to the "annex" where we took off our shoes and ascended the steep little stairway that led to the cozy matted rooms where the charcoal braziers were already burning red. A clerk came in and took our names, age, profession, residence, birthplace, and for aught I know the colors of our eyes and hair. Then came the proprietor ostensibly to make sure of our comfort but really I think to hear the news from Tokyo and learn if it were "really" true that Admiral Makarov was drowned. Meanwhile the maids were busy spreading out the heavy "futon" (comforters) that make the Japanese bed. Presently the proprietor withdrew and we prepared for rest. After the lights were out a silence settled down on us that was only accentuated by the murmur of a little waterfall nearby and the soft whisperings of the falling snow.

In the morning we awoke to a very wonderful land of beauty. Eight inches of snow lay in soft lines over the mountain and valley, the heavily forested spruces seemed almost to touch the base of the neighboring mountains were visible. By noon we had finished our affairs and were on our way back to Tokyo. Our company was somewhat different from that of the day before. Three young men chatted together of their travels and consumed quantities of cigarettes; a young girl a few seats ahead overstepped the Japanese proprieties and caused my companion some embarrassment by the bestowal of rather ardent glances. A little girl just opposite us shifted her position shyly and occasionally asked if we were not soon to reach Tokyo. It was her first journey from her home on the northwest coast and she was eager to meet the sister awaiting her in the capital. Presently loud laughter from the front of the car drew our attention thither until even my poor Japanese warned me that the occasion of the laughter was a filthy story. Everyone was listening, indeed one could not help but hear. One cannot live for any length of time in Japan and watch the people without coming to admire them for their many excellences. I may even say love them for their courtesy, cheerfulness and loyalty; but even again one is brought face to face with the awful need of a sound basis of morality and right living. I asked my friend if there was no Buddhist teaching against obscenity to which he answered "certainly but you must know that Buddhism has no real moral power over the people of Japan at this time." That is doubtless an exaggerated statement but this much is certain that Buddhism has failed to establish a moral public sentiment comparable to that of Christian countries.

Arriving in Tokyo we found it raining as when we left. In the half lit street the ricksha men crowded eagerly about us. It is really necessary to harden one's heart against their blandishments. It is really hard to see mudsplashed legs and shivering figures together with the courtesy of their invitation make an inexperienced person forget the sordid financial consideration. A minute of uncompromising bargaining proving a ricksha at a fair price and I was off for home two miles and a half across the city. Twenty minutes brought us to our destination and when I stopped the man at the foot of a slippery little hill near the house gave him an extra five sen and let him go he thanked me with a courtesy that was ample compensation.

HANFORD SCORED A BIG HIT HERE

Versatile Actor Delighted Good Sized Audience with "The Old Guard" and Shakespeare's Comedy.

Charles B. Hanford as the roystering swashbuckler, Petruchio, in "The Taming of the Shrew" delighted a good sized audience at the Myers theatre last evening. From his listless courtship of the evil tempered Katherine in the first act to the stormy scene on the homecoming from the honeymoon, and the final subduing of the shrew, the spectators followed his fortunes with breathless interest. So fine was the actor's reading of the lines and conception of the action that aside from the sixteenth century garb it was difficult to realize that one was not listening to a comedy from modern life. Marie Drouhal, as Katherine, was so real and true in her interpretation that more than once an involuntary shudder ran through the male portion of the audience. Caryl Gillan played the part of the limber servant, Grumio, in a manner that provoked frequent laughter and applause and Miss Eugenie Webb as the meek and charming sister of Katherine proved very pleasing.

The play was preceded by a curtain-raiser "The Old Guard" wherein Mr. Hanford played the noble and beautiful Count of Haversack, the last of the soldiers who had been with Napoleon at Waterloo. Bowed down with the infirmities of age, and tottering to his grave the old man lives again the scenes of the past. At one moment he tells in mournful cadence of having seen all the world rush to its doom and the next he is following the victorious eagles to the hymn of the Marshalsea. Upon his vague and incoherent dreams intrudes a plot to ruin his supposed daughter, Melanie, and events of absorbing interest lead swiftly to a thrilling climax. Miss Webb played her part to perfection and Mr. Hanford was superb.

Papers for Employees.

Making Cotton in Japan.

Employees in Japanese cotton factories get only 8 to 14 cents for a day's work of eleven or twelve hours. The work, however, is much less strenuous than in this country, and much time is wasted in loafing, talking, laughing and drinking tea.

er pickles in great demand; also canned and dried fruits. All other supplies as usual. It is most earnestly requested and urged that every farmer should plant an unusual quantity of onions and cabbage. Our hospitals notwithstanding our great victories, will be full of wounded heroes and they need and deserve our continued interest and assistance.

The American Telegraph company transmitted from Washington on Thursday to the press of the country, fifty-eight thousand and seven hundred and fifty-eight words, the largest amount ever sent by the press in one day.

A large proportion of the wounded men who arrived in Washington will be turned over to the Provost Marshal to be sent back to their regiments specially. Their march from the battlefield to the Potomac river, fighting their way through Vicksburg shows that they were not much disabled, and it is possible that some of them might properly be classed with the skeddaddlers.

Coming Attractions.

The Flora de Voss Co., which comes to the Grand, Thursday, May 19, for a three nights engagement is too well known in this city for any lengthy comment.

Miss Ruby Kilmour who heads the company is a remarkably gifted young lady, although not yet out of her teens she has won a place in the front ranks of the profession and is rated as one of the best juvenile stars on the road. Her presence on the stage is easy and natural, full of a winning grace, that coupled with her youthful charms and freshness, makes her everywhere a firm favorite.

Mr. Edwin Brink, although in his 79th year has lost none of his old time ability, his acting all through in whatever part he is cast, is so sane dignified, so well controlled, yet not lacking in energy nor strength and is continually a source of pleasure and satisfaction.

The company presents for the first time in Janesville, "The American Girl," Thursday evening.

Otis Skinner would seem to be ideally equipped for the role of "The Harvester" in the adaptation of Klepp's famous Parisian success—Le Chéménier.

The gypsy hero is one of those laughing, rollicking, devil-may-care fellows who win the hearts of men as well as women, and whose sorrow, when sorrow comes, seems double poignant because of the customary strength and self-reliance of this type and their habitual unwillingness to wear their hearts upon their sleeves.

Mr. Skinner with his picturesque head and naturally swarthy skin, should "look" the debonaire roamer.

NEW WARSHIP IS FAST IN MUD

Launching of the Rhode Island Ends In Unexpected Mishap.

Quincy, Mass., May 18.—The battleship Rhode Island was launched at the yards of the Forge River Ship and Engine company. After the vessel had left the ways the launching crew experienced an unexpected disaster. The great craft had attained such headway that it could not be stopped in deep water and the anchor falling to hold, the stern was forced into a mud bank. Three tugs made fast to the vessel as soon as possible. But the tide fell rapidly and they were unable to move it. The company sent to Boston for additional tugs and it was expected the battleship would be released before the next flood tide. A naval inspector who was on the scene expressed the opinion that as the bottom was soft the ship would not be damaged.

DROWNS SELF AND LITTLE ONE

Woman Jumps Into River With Her Daughter Tied to Waist.

Columbus, O., May 18.—Having tied her 5-year-old daughter to her left arm and waist, Mrs. M. B. Copeland of 645 East Long street jumped from the north rail of the Rich street bridge over the Seloto river and both were drowned in twelve feet of water. No cause is known for the act. L. K. Harding, Charles Siegman and James Baillinger swam into the river and tried to save the woman, but became exhausted and had to return to shore. Siegman nearly drowned, but was resuscitated.

The Dog in Paris.

The "chien mouton" is especially the family dog with the fairly well off and holds a very dear place in the feminine heart. Lucky is his lot if his mistress be wealthy, for he will be fed on the best of everything; he will have his wardrobe, including coats for all occasions, even to that for automobile; he will work to sleep on silk covered cushions and in the end be buried decently in the cemetery for dogs, his memory being perpetuated by a monument over a bower covered grave. When this love of the dog is understood, the importance of his appearance and the necessity for the "tondeur" are at once apparent. A lady has been seen to stop her carriage on the "quai" above and send the footman down with the dog to the barber. And while the lady waited and dreamed above the footman waited and doctored below, saying things that were not for other ears.—Winchester Magazine.

Not a Whisker.

When the bishop of New York was once making a visitation at Goshen, one of the vestrymen, who had a pair of Hambletonian in the harness by allowing him to drive the pair. Bishop Potter was well covered with dust when he drew up at a country inn. Stepping into the office, which was also the bar, the bishop approached the counter and said to the man in attendance: "Would you kindly give me a whisk, sir?" The man looked confused, more especially because of the unmistakable cut of the ecclesiastical's clothes, and he replied, with some diffidence: "Really, doctor, we daren't sell liquor on Sunday." It was soon explained that the bishop only wanted a whisk broom to brush his dusty broadcloth.—N. Y. Tribune.

NEW ENTERPRISE TO BE LAUNCHED

ALBERT NOTT WILL START PAPER
BOX FACTORY HERE.

ANNUAL BUSINESS OF $10,000

In Supplying Local Demands Has Been Assured—Is Buying Machinery Today.

Machinery for a paper box factory which is supplying home demands will do $10,000 worth of business in Janesville annually will arrive in this city within the next few weeks. Albert Nott and W. E. Clinton with whom he was for several years associated in the book-binding craft left this morning for Chicago to purchase the necessary equipment for the new enterprise. The latter will not be financially interested but has taken an active part in getting the project under way.

Local Business Promised

Mr. Nott is a Janesville young man and has been interested in this kind of work for fourteen years. He was with the Gazette when a box factory was maintained in this office and later spent four years in a large factory in Racine. Subsequently he was with the Schultz firm of Milwaukee which operates one of the largest paper box factories in the northwest. For the past six months he has had charge of the machinery at the book and eye factory here. The plan of starting a box factory here he has had under consideration for some time. Upon the advent of the new shoe factory and the promise of its business as well as that of all the other manufacturing institutions here that use such boxes, he definitely decided to undertake it.

Location Now Settled
The new concern will start out in a modest manner, employing about six hands at first. The equipment will involve an outlay of about $2,000. No location has been selected as yet but several are under consideration. The straw board which constitutes the raw material is made in several Illinois cities including Marseilles and Rockford and will be readily available. The success of the project is assured.

AN EVENING IN QUAINT JAPAN

Was Enjoyed by a Large Company at the Central Methodist Church—Wonderful Costumes.

The Japanese entertainment given at the Central M. E. church last evening was much enjoyed by all who were present. The little company that rendered the program represented the Oriental country in costumes that would cause a Jap to blush with envy.

The Clarion male quartette, composed of Messrs. Cleveland, Van Pool, Cary and Brady rendered the opening number and favored the audience with another selection later in the evening. The gentlemen are good singers and their services are in great demand.

Ethel Hodge recited a Japanese story that proved very entertaining, and a Japanese song by Serena Nassett, was well rendered. Miss Cheney and Miss Warren played a piano duet that received much applause.

A ladies quartette, composed of Mrs. Warner, Mrs. Dr. Richards, Mrs. Davidson and Miss Hall gave a selection that merited an encore. Paul Taylor, a bright boy of a dozen years gave an amusing description of a pillow fight, which brought down the house. Miss Ethel Bates recited "The Old Red Cradle" to slow music displaying rare talent.

A song by Prof. Brooks and another selection by the male quartette closed the programme, when the audience was invited to the church parlors, and served to rice with chop sticks, and a good cup of tea.

The room was appropriately decorated, and the service was as near Japanese as good imitation would permit. The ladies having the entertainment in charge exhibited much skill in the undertaking and merit the success attained.

The Hearst faction was swept off its feet by the overwhelming array of the Wall boomers and at no stage of the proceedings were the former sufficient in evidence to cast the slightest shadow of a doubt over the result of the convention. George G. Sutherland of Janesville and Charles Fillman of Racine were named as national delegates from the first district. P. J. Mount was made chairman of the congressional delegates, from the first district.

MISCARRIAGE OF A GHASTLY JOKE

Occasioned Some Harsh Words
Among City Officials This Morning
—Coroner Parker Was "Wise."

City officials including the Health Commissioner and one justice of the peace, as well as the individual members of the Andrew Jackson club, are in bad odor today. Some very strong words by citizens whose residence brings them within the zone of the alley in the rear of Frank Kimball's undertaking rooms. The joke itself was strong to begin with, and when it had been brewing about twenty-four hours it became something terrible.

Found A Floater

Yesterday forenoon the carcass of a dog in an advanced state of decomposition was observed in the river and the proper authorities were notified. They were about to make the proper disposition of the remains when an emissary of the Andrew Jackson Club appeared on the scene and stayed their hands.

The club, he said, had for several days been contemplating sending an invitation to E. D. Parker of LaPrairie, republican nominee for coronor, to engrave his name upon their roster.

The time was ripe, he thought. Also the subject, on which he literally feasted his eyes.

Coroner Parker Notified

After the noisome, carnal had been placed in a rough wooden funeral box and removed to the morgue a telephone message was sent to Mr. Parker to the effect that a body had been recovered from the river and that he had been appointed to conduct the inquest by Justice Earle, acting as court commissioner.

That a jury had been impaneled to act in conjunction with him. The Jackson club assembled at its rooms for the formality. At seven last evening Mr. Parker telephoned that he had given the matter due thought and had decided that he could not act.

This morning two police officers, with outspoken comment never heard in Sunday school circles, removed the dead dog to his final resting place. But he is not forgotten, though many would fain forget. The alley in which he sojourned on his delayed journey to the grave will be scrupulously avoided for some days.

Filigree Ball

By ANNA KATHARINE GREEN,

"He grew more distant, much more distant; got up quite frequently from his seat, if he were sitting beside her, and took up some book or paper."

"And Miss Tuttle?"

"She never seemed to notice, but—" "But?"

"She did not come in very often after this had happened once or twice—I mean into the room upstairs where they used to sit."

"Loretta, I regret to put this question, but after your replies I owe it to the jury, if not to the parties themselves, to make Miss Tuttle's position in this household thoroughly understood. Do you think she was a welcome visitor in this house?"

"I can only repeat what I once heard said about this by Mr. Jeffrey himself. Miss Tuttle had just left the dining room and Mrs. Jeffrey was standing in one of her black moods, with her hand on the top of her chair, ready to go, but forgetting to do so. I was there, but neither of them noticed me; he was staring at her, and she was looking down. Neither seemed to ease. Suddenly he spoke and asked, 'Why must Cora remain with us?' She started and her look grew strange and frightened. 'Because I want her to,' she cried. 'I cannot live without Cora.'"

These words, so different from what we were expecting, caused a sensation in the room and consequently a stir. As the noise of shifting feet and moving heads began to be heard in all directions, Miss Tuttle's head drooped a little, but Francis Jeffrey did not betray any sign of feeling or even of attention. The cornerer, embarrassed, perhaps, by this exhibition of silent misery so near him, hesitated a little before he put his next question. Loretta, on the contrary, had gathered courage with every word she spoke and now looked ready for anything.

"It was Mrs. Jeffrey, then, who came most determinedly to her sister?" the cornerer finally suggested.

"I have told you what she said."

"Yet these sisters spent but little time together?"

"Very little; as little as two persons could who lived together in one house."

This statement, which seemed such a contradiction to her former one, increased the interest, and much disappointment was covertly shown when the cornerer veered off from this topic and brusquely inquired:

"Did you ever know Mr. and Mrs. Jeffrey to have any open rupture?"

The answer was a decided one.

"Yes. On Tuesday morning preceding her death they had a long and angry talk in their own room, after which Mrs. Jeffrey made no further effort to conceal her wickedness. Indeed, one may say she began to do from that hour."

Mrs. Jeffrey's death had occurred on Wednesday evening.

"Let us hear what you have to say about this quarrel and what happened after it."

The girl, with a renewed flush, cast a deprecating look at the mass of faces before her, and, meeting on all sides but one look of intense and growing interest, drew up her neat figure with a relieved air and began a story which I will proceed to transcribe for you in the fewest possible words.

Tuesday morning's breakfast had been a silent one. There had been a ball the night before at some great place on Massachusetts avenue; but no one spoke of it. Miss Tuttle made some remark about a friend she had met there, but as no one listened to her she soon stopped and in a little while left the table. Mr. and Mrs. Jeffrey sat on, but neither said anything. Finally Mr. Jeffrey rose and, speaking in a voice hardly recognizable, remarked that he had something to say to her, and led the way to their room. Mrs. Jeffrey looked frightened as she followed him; so frightened that it was evident that something very serious had occurred or was about to occur between them. As nothing of this kind had ever happened before, Loretta could not help waiting about till Mr. Jeffrey reappeared, and when he did so, and she saw no signs of relief in his face or manner, she watched, with the silly interest of a girl who had nothing else to occupy her mind, to see if he would leave the house in such a mood and without making peace with his young bride. To her surprise, he did not go out at the usual time, but went to Miss Tuttle's room, where for a full half hour he remained closeted with his sister-in-law, talking in excited and unnatural tones. Then he went back for a few minutes to where he had left his wife in her own boudoir. But he could not have had much to say to her this time, for he presently came out again and ran hastily downstairs and out, almost without stopping to catch up his hat.

As it was Mary's business, and not the witness', to make Mrs. Jeffrey's bed in the morning, Loretta could think of no excuse for approaching her mistress's room at this moment; but later, when letters came, followed by anxious messages and some visitors, she went more than a dozen times to Mrs. Jeffrey's door. She was not admitted, nor were her appeals answered, except by a sharp "Go away!"

Nor was Miss Tuttle received any better, though she tried more than once to see her sister, especially as night came on and the hour approached for Mr. Jeffrey's return. Mrs. Jeffrey was simply determined to remain alone, and when dinner time arrived, and no Mr. Jeffrey, she could be induced to open her door only wide enough to take in the cup of tea which Miss Tuttle insisted upon sending her.

The witness here confessed that she had been very much excited by these unusual proceedings and by the effect which they seemed to have on the first mentioned, so she was ready to notice that Mrs. Jeffrey's hand shook like that of an old and palsied woman when she reached out for the tray.

Gladly would Loretta have caught one glimpse of her face, but it was hidden by the door; nor did Mrs. Jeffrey answer a single one of her questions. She simply closed her door and kept it so till toward midnight, when Miss Tuttle, coming into the hall, ordered the house to be closed for the night. Then the long shut door softly swung open; but, before any one could reach it, it was again pulled to and locked.

The next day brought no relief. Miss Tuttle, who had changed greatly during this unhappy day and night, succeeded no better than before in getting access to her sister, nor could Loretta gain the least word from her mistress till toward the latter part of the afternoon, when that lady, ringing her bell, gave her first order.

"A substantial dinner!" she cried. And when Loretta, greatly relieved, brought up the required meal she was astonished to find the door open and herself hidden to enter. The sight which met her eyes staggered her. From one end of the room to the other were signs of great nervous unrest and of terrible suffering. The chairs were pushed into corners as if the wretched bride had tramped the floor in an agony of excitement. Curtains were torn, and the piano cover was hanging half on and half off the open upright, as if she had clutched at it to keep herself from falling. On the floor beneath lay several pieces of broken china—vases of whose value Mrs. Jeffrey had often spoken, but which, jerked off with the cover, had been left where they fell—while immediately in front of the fireplace lay one of the rings, tossed into a heap, as if she had rolled it in on the floor or used it to smother her cries of pain or anger.

So much for the state in which the witness found the boudoir. The adjoining bedroom was not in much better case, though it was evident that the bed itself had not been lain in since it was made up the day before at breakfast time. By this token, Mrs. Jeffrey had not slept the night before, or if she had laid her head anywhere it had been on the rug already spoken of.

These signs of extreme mental suffering, so much more extreme than any Loretta had ever before witnessed, frightened her so that the tray shook in her hand as she set it down on the table among the countless objects Mrs. Jeffrey always had about her. The noise seemed to startle her mistress, who had walked to the window after opening the door, for she wheeled impulsively about and Loretta saw her face. It was as if a light had passed over it. Once gay and animated beyond the power of any one to describe, it had become in twenty-four hours a ghastly face, with the glare of some awful resolve on it; or so it would appear from the way Loretta described it.

Loretta, who was evidently accustomed to seeing her mistress arrayed in brilliant colors and much bejeweled, had great stress on the fact that, though it was on the verge of evening and she was evidently going out, she was dressed in black cloth and without even a diamond or a flower to relieve its severe simplicity. Her hair, too, which was always her pride, was piled in a careless mass upon her head.

THE PEOPLE ALL

In Chorus Cried, Give Us Newbro's Herpicide.

This word of late has been in everyone's mouth, and many are wondering what the word signifies, though no one has yet been found, who will deny that NEWBRO'S HERPICIDE does the work. Well, for the information of thousands of things, we would say that HERPICIDE means, a destroyer or killer of "Herpes." Now "Herpes" is the family name of a disease caused by various vegetable parasites. A similar microbe causes dandruff, itching scalp, and falling hair; this is the microbe that NEWBRO'S HERPICIDE promptly destroys; after which the hair grows. Sold by leading druggists. to arrange it herself and had forgotten what she was doing while her fingers were but half through their work. There was a clank lying on a chair near which she was standing and she held a hat in her hand, but Loretta saw no gloves. As the maid's glance and that of her mistress crossed, Mrs. Jeffrey spoke, and the effort she made in doing so naturally frightened the girl still more. "I am going out," were her words. "I may not be home till late—What are you looking at?"

Loretta declared that the words took her by surprise and that she did not know what to say, but managed to cover up her embarrassment by intimating that if her mistress would let her touch up her hair a bit she would make her look more natural.

At this suggestion Mrs. Jeffrey cast a glance in the glass and impulsively declared, "It doesn't matter." But she seemed to think better of it the next minute; for, throwing herself in a chair, she bade the girl to bring a comb and sat quietly enough, though evidently in a great tremor of haste and impatience, while Loretta combed her hair and put it up in the old way.

But the old way was not as becoming as usual, and Loretta was wondering if she ought to call in Miss Tuttle when Mrs. Jeffrey jumped to her feet and went over to the table and began to eat with the feverish haste of one who forces herself to take food in spite of hurry and distaste.

This was the moment for Loretta to leave the room, but she did not know how to do so. She felt herself fixed to the spot and stood watching Mrs. Jeffrey till that lady, suddenly becoming conscious of the girl's presence, turned, and in the midst of the moans which broke unconsciously from her lips said with a pitiable effort at her old manner:

"Go away, Loretta! I am ill; have been ill for two days. I don't like people to look at me like that!" Then, as the girl shrank back, she added in a breaking voice, "When Mr. Jeffrey comes home"—and said no more for several minutes, during which she clutched her throat with both hands and struggled with herself till she got her voice back and found herself able to repeat: "When Mr. Jeffrey comes, if he does come, tell him that I was right about the way that novel ended. Remember that you are to say to him the moment you see him that I was right about the novel and that he is to look and see if it did not end as I said it would. And, Loretta"—here she rose and approached the speaker with a sweet, appealing look which brought tears to the impressionable girl's eyes—"don't go gossiping about me downstairs. I shall be sick long. I am going to be better soon, very soon. By the time you see me here again I shall be quite like my old self. Forget how—how"—and Loretta said she seemed to have difficulty in finding the right word here—"how childish I have been."

Of course Loretta promised, but she is not sure that she would have had the courage to keep all this to herself if she had not heard Mrs. Jeffrey stop in Miss Tuttle's room on her way out. That relieved her and enabled her to go downstairs to her own supper with more appetite than she had thought ever to have again. Alas, it was the last good meal she was able to eat for days. In three hours afterward, a man came from the station house with the news of Mrs. Jeffrey's suicide in the horrible old house in which she had been married only two weeks before.

As this had been a continuous narrative and concisely told, the cornerer had not interrupted her. When at this point a little gasp escaped Miss Tuttle and a groan broke from Francis Jeffrey's lips the whole assemblage seemed to find utterance. A young wife's misery culminating in death on the very spot where she had been so lately married! What could be more thrilling or appealing more closely to the general heart of humanity? But the cause of this misery was eager to have explained. This is what we now expected the cornerer to bring out. But instead of continuing on the line he had opened up he proceeded to ask:

"Where were you when this officer brought the news you mention?"

"In the hall, sir. I opened the door for him."

"And to whom did he first mention his errand?"

"To Miss Tuttle. She had come in just before him and was standing at the foot of the stairs."

"What! Was Miss Tuttle out that evening?"

"Yes, she went out very soon after Mrs. Jeffrey left. When she came in she said that she had been around the block, but she must have gone around it more than once, for she was absent two hours."

"Did you let her in?"

"Yes, sir."

"And she said she had been around the block?"

"Yes, sir."

"Did she say anything else?"

"She asked if Mr. Jeffrey had come in."

"Anything else?"

"Then if Mrs. Jeffrey had returned."

"To both of which questions you answered—"

"A plain 'No.'"

"Now tell us about the officer."

"He rang the bell almost immediately after she did. Thinking she would want to slip upstairs before I admitted any one, I waited a minute for her to go, but she did not do so, and when the officer stepped in she—"

"Well?"

"She shrieked."

"What! Before he spoke?"

"Yes, sir."

"Just at sight of him?"

"Yes, sir."

"Did he wear his badge in plain view?"

"Yes, on his breast."

"So that you knew him to be a police officer?"

"Yes."

PHYSICAL HOUSE-CLEANING

A Thorough Cleansing of the System
Now is the Surest Protection Against Spring and Summer Sickness.

No good house keeper ever neglects Spring cleaning. With plenty of soap and water, hard scrubbing and scouring, sunlight and air, she soon gets rid of all rubbish, musty odors, germs and microbes, and the dust and dirt that have accumulated during the long winter months. But when the house has been put in order, and the premises cleared of all old plunder and trash, the great majority of house keepers feel that Spring cleaning is over, and forget that their systems may be in a worse condition than the house, and that the bad feelings, debility, loss of appetite, nervousness and sleeplessness from which they are suffering are due to neglect of the more important and necessary work of Physical house cleaning. A clean house does not insure against disease, but a clean system does. The poisons and humors engendered within the body, the waste matter that is clogging the system and contaminating and vitiating the blood, are far more dangerous to health than the dirt and dust of our homes. In the winter time we give free rein to our appetites, and eat more and oftener than is for our good. We inhale the polluted air of badly ventilated offices and rooms, take little or no exercise, and our bodies become a veritable hot-bed of disease-bearing germs, and our blood is loaded with impurities and poisons of every conceivable kind; and no wonder that Spring time is so often Sick time and finds us in such poor physical condition, with vitality slowly wasting away, our digestion impaired, the liver torpid, and all the bodily organs over-worked and out of repair. Unless our systems are given a thorough cleaning, and the blood purged and purified, the simplest malady may develop into some serious disorder or end in chronic invalidism, and often the pent-up impurities, poisons and humors break out through the skin, and all through the Spring and Summer you are tormented with boils, itchy rashes, sores, bumps and pimples, and all manner of ugly pustular and scaly eruptions.

Physical house cleaning should begin with the blood. It must be purified and strengthened, and when a stream of pure, rich blood is turned into all the nooks and corners of the system, the rubbish and disease-producing poisons are washed out, and the congested channels and avenues of the body are opened, and Physical house cleaning is made thorough and complete. S. S. S. cleanses the blood of taints and poisons and expels the waste and rubbish from the system. It is to the system what soap and water are to the house. Nothing else so quickly removes the stubborn, deeply-rooted poisons and humors that are destroying the purity of the blood and blocking the avenues of health and life.

A course of S. S. S. now will put your system in perfect order and fortify you against the debilitating diseases and aggravating skin troubles that are sure to come if your physical welfare has been neglected. S. S. S. is not only the best of all blood purifiers, but an unequalled tonic and appetizer. It builds you up, improves the appetite, and aids the digestion and assimilation of food, and keeps the system in a healthy, vigorous condition. S. S. S. is guaranteed purely vegetable, and can be taken by the old, middle-aged and young without danger of any harmful effects. S. S. S. is a blood purifier and tonic combined, a perfect Spring medicine and indispensable in Physical house cleaning. Write us fully about your case. No charge for medical advice.

LA FOLLETTE'S HOLD IS SECURE

Wisconsin Governor Will Be Renominated on First Ballot.

Madison, Wis., May 18.—Gov. La Follette will be renominated on the first ballot Wednesday or Thursday, thus ending the direst political campaign in the history of the state. The stalwarts concede the fight is lost to them, and are now pleading with the administration to permit them to send Senators Spooner and Quarles to the national convention as delegates at large. Gov. La Follette will make absolutely no concessions. The stalwarts are in savage mood and are in discord as to how to attempt to checkmate the governor. Senator Quarles is said to favor a bolt to defeat La Follette, but Senator Spooner is declared to be opposed to this. The latter says he deplores the fight, as it is a crisis in the life of the party in Wisconsin. He asserts there is not a worse situation in any state.

Extraordinary Accommodations at St. Louis Fair.

Splendid Hotel Right Inside Exposition Grounds—Thousands of Rooms at Very Moderate Rates—Ideal Conditions.

Visitors to the World's Fair at St. Louis need not fear either lack of accommodations or extortionate prices. Under the supervision of the World's Fair management a huge hotel has been built right inside the exposition grounds where every comfort and modern convenience at most reasonable rates can be enjoyed by all.

This new departure in world's fair accommodations is called "The Inside Inn" and it is built and furnished upon the same lavish scale which characterizes every feature of the big show. It is three stories high, is 400 feet wide and 800 feet long. It contains spacious reception-rooms, reading-rooms, parlors and offices and its dining-hall and restaurant will seat 2,500 people to a meal at a single sitting. It has 2,267 bed-rooms the prices of which range from $1.50 to $5.50 per day on the European plan and from $3.00 to $7.00 on the American plan, including daily admission to the exposition, all guests enjoying the same dining-room privileges and service. The inside inn is under the direct management and supervision of Mr. E. M. Stalter, the well-known caterer of Buffalo. This fact alone is sufficient guarantee that the cuisine and service will always be of the very highest order.

Those who remember the heart-breaking weariness of the long journey homeward after a tiring day at the World's Fair at Chicago or the Pan-American at Buffalo will instantly appreciate the extraordinary convenience and comfort afforded by this residing right within the Exposition grounds. No admission fee other than the first will be needed by guests of The Inside Inn, while the saving effected of entrance, suburban train service, etc., will prove a valuable item to those who study economy.

The enormous capacity of The Inside Inn assures ample accommodations for all—no matter when or in what numbers they come—but those who prefer to secure their rooms in advance may make reservations now for any period during the life of the Fair. A post card addressed to The Inside Inn, Administration Bldg., World's Fair Grounds, St. Louis, Mo., will bring a most interesting booklet, giving every possible detail.

BUDDHAS OF JAPAN.

Huge Figures of the God Abound Throughout the Empire.

The religious beliefs of Japan are Buddhism, Shintoism and in recent years Christianity. Buddhism entered Japan by way of Korea in 522 along with the arts, sciences and letters of China. Its gilded images and its gorgeous temples and ritual appealed to the Japanese mind, and the new religion became popular.

There are now many sects of Buddhism, the most popular being the Shin-Shu, which has been called the "Protestantism of Japan." It teaches that salvation may be obtained merely by faith in the mercy of Amida, the chief of the Buddhas. This is the most powerful of the Japanese sects. Its temples are large and magnificent and are found in the most crowded parts of the cities.

Shintoism is a kind of ancestor and hero worship. It has no creed, no doctrinal system and no moral code. There are no priests and no images in its 101,502 temples.

The Buddhist temples, except the Shin-Shu, have fallen into disuse since the fall of the shoguns. They are resorted to more by pleasure seekers than worshippers. To all the larger temples are attached regular spectacles—playhouses, panoramas, fan throwing and shooting galleries where target practice with bow and arrow may be indulged in.

Throughout Japan there are many large figures of Buddha, though they do not receive the homage that was paid them in the old days. One of the most notable of these is the great bronze Buddha near Yokohama. This still has its worshippers, and lanterns and other votive offerings are nearly always to be seen at its feet.

Another remarkable bronze figure of Buddha is in the grounds of the monastery at Kamakura. It is built in 737 by the Buddhist emperor Shomu. The statue, which was erected several hundred years later, stands about fifty feet high, and its face is eight and a half feet in length.

MARYLAND'S NEW SENATOR.

Isidor Rayner, Who Was Counsel for Rear Admiral Schley.

Isidor Rayner, who has just been elected United States senator from Maryland to succeed Senator Louis E. Conness, the present incumbent, is one of the most famous lawyers of the state and an orator of renown.

Senator Rayner is best known to the country at large as Rear Admiral Schley's counsel during the investigation in 1901 of that officer's conduct in the Spanish war. Born in Baltimore in 1850, he was educated at the University of Virginia. In 1871 was admitted to the bar and for many years has been a prominent figure in public life.

Mr. Rayner soon became known in his native city as a brilliant lawyer. He was elected in 1878 to the legislature, where the announcement that he would spent always filled the galleries during the one term that he served. In 1886 he was elected to congress and was twice re-elected. He declined to serve a fourth term and after having played a conspicuous part during the six years of his service retired in 1892. Seven years later he was elected attorney general of Maryland.

In August, 1901, Admiral Schley asked Mr. Rayner to represent him at the naval inquiry arising out of the Sampson-Schley controversy, and Rayner accepted and in the trial added greatly to his fame as lawyer and orator.

Whiskey and Beer Habit

PERMANENTLY CURED BY

"ORRINE."

ABSOLUTELY SAFE, SURE AND HARMLESS.

Physicians pronounce drunkenness a disease of the nervous system, creating a morbid craving for a stimulant. Continued indulgence in whiskey, beer or wine eats away the stomach lining and stupifies the digestive organs, thus destroying the digestion and ruining the health. No "will power" can heal the inflamed stomach membranes.

"ORRINE" permanently removes the craving for liquor by acting directly on the affected nerves, restoring the stomach and digestive organs to normal conditions, improving the appetite and restoring the health. Can be given secretly if desired.

Cure Effected or Money Refunded.

Ask your druggist whom you know what he thinks of ORRINE; he will indorse our statements as truthful in every respect. If ORRINE fails to cure we will refund you every penny paid for it as cheerfully as we took it.

No Sanitarium Treatment or Publicity!

No Absence from home or loss of time! Mothers, wives and sisters, you cannot cure those who are afflicted with this most terrible of all diseases by your fervent prayers, or eyes red with tears, nor by your hope that they may stop drinking. It can be done only with ORRINE. You have the remedy—will you use it? If you desire to cure without the knowledge of the patient, buy ORRINE No. 1. If the patient desires to be cured of his own free will, buy ORRINE No. 2. Full directions found in each package. Price $1 per box.

We will gladly furnish a treatment free of cost to any physician to demonstrate that Orrine is a positive specific for drunkenness.

CURED WHEN OTHERS FAILED

1056 Winnebago Avenue, Chicago, Ill., Oct. 25, 1902.

Wine of Cardui can always be relied upon to cure when everything else fails. It is a certain cure for female diseases in their worst form. I suffered for years with ulceration. Intense pains in the womb and ovaries and dreadful headaches afflicted me for my work. Finally I grew so ill that I had to keep to my bed. The pains were so intense at times as to cause spasms and a disagreeable discharge drained my life forces. In my extremity after all else had failed, I tried Wine of Cardui. After using it for two weeks I began to improve so rapidly that I felt encouraged to keep up the treatment, which I did for eighteen weeks, but at the end of that time I was entirely cured. What a relief was mine and how new and beautiful life looked to me when my health was restored. Only those who have passed through such a siege of sickness as I have will understand how much I value Wine of Cardui. It is indeed a boon to sick women.

Frances Mitchell

Secretary, North Chicago Frauen Verein.

Every weak woman needs Wine of Cardui. Wine of Cardui cures disordered and painful menstruation, periodical headaches, falling of the womb and leucorrhoea. It cures extreme cases of these troubles. It strengthens girls approaching womanhood, helps bring children to barren homes, makes pregnancy and childbirth easier, prevents miscarriages and is the best medicine ever made for use during the change of life. Why permit the good women in your home to suffer another day? Every druggist has $1.00 bottles of Wine of Cardui.

THE UNIVERSAL EXPOSITION

The Achievements of Individuals and Nations Faithfully Recorded by This Encyclopedia of Society.

By FREDERICK J. V. SKIFF, Director of Exhibits, World's Fair.

"The wisdom of all ages is none too great for the world's work." In this single salient sentence, uttered in his famous address at Buffalo in September, 1901, President McKinley described the object and the result of the exposition.

A modern universal exposition is a collection of the wisdom and achievements of the world, for the inspection of the world, for the study of its experts, by which they may make comparisons and deductions and develop plans for future improvements and progress. Such a universal exposition might well be called an encyclopedia of society. It constitutes a classified, compact, indexed compendium of the achievements and ideas of society in all phases of its activity, extending to the most material as well as the most refined. It offers illustrations covering the full field of social performance, from the production of the shoes on our feet and the pavement beneath them to a presentation of the rarest and most delicate creations of the brains and hands of men in what are called the fine arts of civilization.

The Universal Exposition in St. Louis in 1904 will be such a social encyclopedia in the most comprehensive and accurate sense. It will give to the world in revised and complete details "a living picture of the artistic and industrial development at which mankind has arrived" and will actually provide "a new starting point from which all men may direct future exertions." It will present for the inspection of specialists in all lines of industrial and social endeavor and for the public an assembly of the best which the world has done and has to show in industry, art and science, and, what is very important, it will offer these achievements of society, these trophies of civilization, in a highly selected, accurately classified array.

The creators of the St. Louis Exposition have had the experience of all previous great exhibitions by which to plan and effect its high organization. The continuous and repeated burden of the message of experience handed down by all exhibitions has been more perfect, more effective classification and arrangement of exhibits.

The classification of the St. Louis Exposition has been prepared to present a sequential synopsis of the developments that have marked man's progress. On its bases will be assembled the most highly organized exposition the world has yet seen.

The St. Louis classification is divided into 10 departments, 144 groups and 807 classes. These grand departments in their order will record what man has accomplished at this time with his faculties, industry and skill and the natural resources at his command in the environment in which he has been placed.

At the head of the Exposition classification has been placed Education, through which man enters social life. Second comes Art, showing the condition of his culture and development. Liberal Arts and Applied Sciences are placed third, to indicate the result of his education and culture. Illustrate his tastes and demonstrate his inventive genius, scientific attainment and artistic expression. These three departments equip him for the battle and prepare him for the enjoyments of life. The raw material departments, Agriculture, Horticulture, Mining and Forestry, show how man conserves the forces of nature to his uses. The Department of Manufactures will show what he has done with them; the Department of Machinery the tools he has used. The Department of Transportation will show how he overcomes distances and secures access to all parts of the world. The Department of Electricity will indicate the great forces he has discovered and utilized to convey power and intelligence. And so through the several departments to Anthropology, in which man studies man; and to Social Economy, which will illustrate the development of the human race, how it has overcome the difficulties of civilization and solved problems in which society is involved.

Last is placed physical culture, in which man, his intelligence having reached the supreme point, is able to treat himself as an animal, realizing that his intellectual and moral constitutions require a sound physical body to prompt them to the proper performance of their function.

Education is the keynote of the Universal Exposition of 1904. Each department of the world's labor and development will be represented at St. Louis, classified and installed in such manner that all engaged or interested in such branch of activity may come and see, examine, study and go away advised. Each of the separate sections of the Exposition will be an equivalent of—or, rather, will be in actuality a comprehensive and most effective object lesson in the line of industrial and social achievement and progress which it presents.

Cost of Seeing the World's Fair. From any point within 300 miles of St. Louis a person may travel to the World's Fair this year, view the wonders of the Exposition for three days and expend the same money he would pay in any other year for train fare alone. This is an absolute fact.

The Western Passenger Association has agreed on a ten day excursion rate, 250 miles or more from St. Louis, for one and one-half fare for the round trip.

Egypt's Ruler. The Khedive of Egypt neither smokes nor drinks, is an early riser and speaks six languages.

NEW ROUNDHOUSE FOR MILWAUKEE

St. Paul and North-Western Railroads Are Planning Extensive Improvements.

Two new railroad roundhouses are to be built in Milwaukee. Ground was broken yesterday for one at West Milwaukee for Chicago-Milwaukee & St. Paul engines, and ground will be broken next spring, it is said at Lake Shore Junction, for Chicago & Northwestern engines. Both roads are badly in need of the improvement, for each has thirty to fifty engines which must stand out of doors all night. The house at West Milwaukee has been planned for two years. A car department building will be built this summer. The Chicago & Northwestern will not build this year, partly because the track depression in the north end is requiring all the attention of the company. The total cost of these improvements will be more than $500,000.

There have been rumors that the Chicago & Northwestern railroad will build a roundhouse in the Third ward. Milwaukee officials do not believe that this will ever be done. The company has owned considerable land near Lake Shore Junction, north of the city, for several years. It is conceded now by local men that the company is weighing whether it shall temporarily improve the old roundhouse on the lake front or shall build a new one in 1905 at Lake Shore Junction.

"We have not asked for a new roundhouse in our 1904 request for appropriations and improvements, but it is conceded by the officers of the company that we need one badly and that we must have one soon," said John W. Cryslar, general foreman of the roundhouse. W. A. Gardner, general superintendent, and other officials have been here, considering to thoroughly canvass the situation. They realize that the improvements which we asked for on this roundhouse will be only a temporary relief. We asked that $50,000 be spent for five new stalls, better sewers, a new office and additional facilities for loading coal. The request has been approved, but is not yet sanctioned by the engineers.

Röntgen Rays Aid Women. The use of Röntgen rays in the hospitals of Germany has opened up a new field of work for women. The service of nurse for patients treated by X-rays and as assistants at the use of them is of a very delicate nature, and in Berlin courses of instruction for X-ray nurses are to be instituted.

Beetles Destroy Trees in Germany. In 1873, in Germany, 1,500,000 trees are said to have been destroyed in the Hartz forest alone by two small species of beetles. The larvae burrow beneath the bark and thus cause the injury to the growing trees.

Few Paupers in Japan. There are very few paupers in Japan, because old age is revered there. No parents or children come to want there unless all their natural protectors are dead or disabled.

Swiss Law Little Observed. The killing of birds is forbidden in the Swiss Canton of Tessin, and last year the rural police confiscated over 20,000 traps and nets. Nevertheless, the birds are offered for sale in the markets with impunity.

Life-Saving Glove. The life-saving glove invented by Capt. Donvig has been endorsed by the Norwegian government. It is made of 3-16 inch steel, has seats for sixteen persons, a sail and a rudder.

Eighty Gnomes Carried Far. In the Abbey church at St. Albans is a curious echo. The tick of a watch may be heard from one end of the church to the other. In Gloucester cathedral a gallery of octagonal form carries a whisper seventy-five feet across the nave.

Korean Houses Screened. Every Korean hides his house from the public gaze by a number of screens. The poor man employs hedges and fences; the rich man has many high walls. Between the walls are grown gorgeous flowers; lotus ponds are also to be found there.
